Who we are:

We are three programming students who have a fond taste of music and sharing music with our friends. We decided that we wanted to create a program that helps people share their favorite music with each other.

Our Program:

Our program's name is Groupmix. We created a program that allows users to login and share their top tracks. In doing so, our program records their top tracks into a new playlist. For each user that logs in, their top tracks are entered into the new playlist. Once all desired users have logged into our application, it will generate one unified playlist composed of all the top tracks from those users. The playlist is finally uploaded to Spotify for universal access.
